OBITUARY

It is a sad duty to record the death of REBECCA, wife of DR. J. W. COLLINS of Toronto, which occurred shortly after 8 o'clock this morning after a lingering illness of typhoid fever, for a pure woman known and loved for her many virtues has gone from a circle where she was a great influence for good, leaving a vacancy that cannot well be filled. Mrs. Collins was the daughter of JOHN and NANCY STONE of Cross Creek Township, and was married November 11, 1867 to Dr. Collins, who survives her, along with four children: BEN F., attending medical college at Columbus; EDNA, NANNIE and MARY at home. That she has gone, and with her departure the pleasant home-life of the Collins household can never again be what it has been brings with the realization deep and poignant grief, yet to the afflicted ones what a consolation to know that with her it is but a change to that higher, better and ever-enduring life of the redeemed Christian---that in the home prepared for the people of God she already is radiant with the glories of the infinite and has entered upon the joys of the eternal. . .

OBITUARY

First Vice President J. N. McCULLOUGH of the Pennsylvania Co., died at his home in Allegheny Sunday morning. Hisdeath was due to a general decline of his whole system. He was born at Yellow Creek, in this county, on Sept. 5, 1821. His father was of Scotch Irish parentage and settled at Yellow Creek when a young man. He manufactures salt and was also in the boating business. He was a man of extraordinary ability and he accumulated a lArge fortune, leaving his children independent. He was a devoted member of the Presbyterian Church. He married a daughter of JACOB NESSLEY, whose father was a pioneer of this county and owned all the land in the vicinity of Yellow Creek.

J. N. McCULLOUGH was educated at a country school and assisted his father in his various enterprises. At the age of twenty-one he engaged in the wholesale business in Wellsville, following it successfully for fifteen years. In 1856 with JOHN McINTOSH, he enagaged in banking in the same place. In 1858 he was elected President of the C.& P. Railroad Co. The following year he was appointed Receiver of the road, also retaining the Presidency, holding this office at the time of his death. Under his careful management this road emerged from its difficulties and within five years became one of the best paying roads in the country. In 1863 he became General Manager of the Fort Wayne Road, and his skill and training soon led him to see that the road needed business more than equipment contrary to the notion of his predecessor, and that equipment should soon follow as a necessity.

He reached out in every direction for traffic, and succeeded in pouring an immense amount of business in on the road, so that within a few years the Fort Wayne became known as a great trunk line. . . He was married in 1852 to MISS REBECCA T. ANDREWS who survives him. They had two children, one of whom died young, and the other is the wife of HARRY DARLINGTON Of Allegheny. The body was taken to Wellsville Tuesday for interment.

THOMAS GILMORE, one of the oldest citizens of Jefferson County, died at his home on South Fifth Street Sunday night, aged ninety-one years, and thus passed out of a long life usefully spent, a good man gone into eternal rest. The deceased was born near Belfast, Ireland, May 10th, 1899, his father's people being among the Ulster Plantations from Scotland, and he was therefore of the Scotch-Irish blood. He was married in 1824 to JANE O'NEILL, who preceded him to the grave seven years ago. They came to America in 1827living in Philadelphia and Moundsville, W. Va., before coming to Steubenville in 1840. For many years Mr. Gilmore was superintendent of the weaving department of Beatty Bros. woolen factory, but after the railroad shops were opened here he became the engineer, which position he held up to twenty years ago, when he retired from active business. He was a Covenanter, but forty years ago united with the Presbyterian Church, of which religious organization he was a faithful and consistent member. His long years were due to his temperate habits and careful living, as well as native rugged constitution. Of six brothers one lived to be ninety-four, one ninety-five, one ninety, and he died at the age of ninety-one. He was the father of twelve children, nine of whom are living: Archibald and John in San Francisco, Mrs. Walter Stark, Downs, Kans.; Thomas, Dennison; Mrs. Elizabeth Robb, New Decatur, Ala.; Mrs. Harvey Martin, East Liverpool; Mrs. Robert Martin, Guthrie, Oklahoma; Miss Annie of the Steubenville Public Schools, and Jane at home. The funeral will take place at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

The community was shocked by the announcement of the death of ROBERT S. BUSTARD, which sad event occurred at the home of his father, JOHN BUSTARD, monday morning. Although it was known that he had been dangerously ill for three weeks with typhoid fever, contracted at East Palestine, where he was engaged in business, still his friends hoped against hope that this sad glow might be averted. Rob was a young man of high honor and sterling principle. . . His family will lose a member whose highest aim was for their comfort; his friends a true heart it will be hard to replace.

JOHN McKEOWN, the millionaire oil producer, and largely interested in the Island Creek and Turkey Foot oil region, died at his home in Washington, Pa. Sunday morning, aged fifty-three. He had been troubled for months with a difficulty in breathing attributed to asthma. This morning he fell into a stupor from which he never revived. He came to this country a poor man twenty-six years ago, and engaged as driller in the upper oil field. Later he took an interest in an oil well that proved a gusher, and at the time of his death his wealth was estimated at $5,000,000.

JOSEPH HAMILTON, SR., an old citizen of Steubenville, died at his home on High Street this morning, aged sixty-seven years. He was born in Ireland and came to this country twenty-seven years ago. He was a glassware packer, and worked for the Beattys up to the time they moved to Tiffin. He leaves five children: ALICIA, JOHN, WILLIAM, THOMAS and JOSEPH.

MARY KATE, youngest daughter of CAPTAIN T. K. McCANN, died this morning shortly after twelve o'clock, at her home on Logan Street, at the age of 19 years. Although ill for some time, her death was hardly expected so soon. She is the second to break the happy circle of the McCANN family and the grief of her parents and brother and sisters is hard to assuage. . . Her parents, one brother HARRY, and two sisters, AGNES and JENNIE, survive her. Funeral from St. Peter's Church.

WILLIAM WARD, for forty-five years a resident of Steubenville, died at his home on South Street Monday evening from the effects of a stroke of paralysis received about two weeks ago. He was a native of North Ireland and was sixty-five years of age. For a number of years he was employed at the Jefferson Iron Works as a shearman, but later he engaged in the milk business which he followed up to about a year ago. He was married in 1852 to JENNIE WILCOXEN who survives him. . .

THURSDAY

KATE, wife of PATRICK FLANNAGAN, died this morning at her home on North Ninth Street. She was the mother of five children, who with her husband survive her.

OBITUARY

MRS. NANCY EKEY died on the morning of February 9th, at the residence of her son-in-law JAmes STARK, in Cross Creek Township, at the age of 63 years. She was a daughter of ALAN HANLON, one of the pioneer settlers of Jefferson County, and the wife of the late ROBERT E. EKEY, whose death occurred in Steubenville March 7th, 1883. She leaves a son, EDWIN H. , and one daughter, MRS. JAMES STARK, both of Cross Creek Township. Of her father's family three survives her: one brother WILLIAM of Coshocton County and two sisters, MRS. JANE FRAZIER of Washington, Pa., and SARAH at home, by whose loving care the last years of her life were brightened. At he age of eighteen she made a public profession of her faith, and for forty-five years has been a consistent member of Cross Creek Presbyterian Church. . . For 22 years preceding her death Mrs. Ekey has been an invalid, often near to death's door, yet she submitted to her cross, bearing it nobly. . .

DR. W. H. PYLE is dead. This announcement carried sadness and sorrow into the houses of all Kaufman Tuesday morning. Over a year ago death set his seal upon this distinguished man, and slowly but surely bore him down to the grave. Monday night, the 9th inst., . . . his spirit passed away as he lisped a prayer to the God of all. . . By the death of this man and that of CAPT. Z. T. ADAMS, Kaufman has lost her truest and most steadfast friends. . . Coming to Kaufman in his early manhood from Ohio, his native state, he began the practice of medicine. . . After the war he was sent to the Texas Senate, where his ability was recognized among the ablest men of the State. . . As a Senator he had no Superior and but few peers. . . As a friend he was true, loyal and zealous, as a father generous, hind and gentle; as a husband devoted, tender and true; and as a Christian consecrated, God-fearing and faithful.

---Kaufman Texas Sun

The subject of the foregoing sketch was born in Richmond, Jefferson County, on the 9th of June 1833. He was the eldest son of the late DR. E. M. PYLE and SARAH M. PYLE, who still survives at the advanced age of 85 years. He graduated at Richmond College in the year of 1850, and one year later was graduated from Washington College at Washington, Pa. During the War of the Rebellion he served as Brigade Surgeon of General Custer's Texas Cavalry Brigade (C.S.A.) his two younger brothers, namely THOMAS H. and SAM M.: being respectively members of the 8th and 52nd O.V.I.

SMITHFIELD

OBITUARY

DR. T. H. PURVIANCE, father of DR. JOSEPH F. PURVIANCE, died at his home on North Eighth Street Friday night, February 20th, aged seventy-six years. He was ill but a few days and endured his suffering as the end approached with remarkable patience, passing away. . . as though in natural sleep. He was for many years a successful practitioner but lately had not been engaged in his profession. He leaves a wife, five sons, and one daughter to mourn his loss. .

* HENRY RINE, one of Brilliant's oldest, best known and highly respected citizens, departed this life on the 13th inst. He was born in Wells Township on the 19th of April, 1808 and therefore had lived to the ripe old age of 84 years. . . The whole of his life he spent in Jefferson County, and with the exception of a very short time in his native township. At the age of 27 years he was married to ELIZABETH OLIVER, by whom he had four children, OLIVER H., deceased; ELLA, wife of FRANK TARR, alsodeceased; WASHINGTON G., one of the proprietors of the Harvey paper mill of WELLSBURG, and J. F., baggage master on the C.& P. R.R. Happy was this family until called upon to mourn the loss of a devoted wife and mother. In 1853 MR. RINE again married, this time to the widow of JOSEPH JOHNSON, a sister of his first wife. To this marriage there were born: Alice, wife of SMITH HUNTER: MISS EMMA, at home; FLETCHER V., deceased; and ELIZABETH, wife of JOHN LONGBOTTOM. Thus five children and his widow are left to mourn the loss of a firm yet indulgent parent and a kind and loving husband. . . Until 1857 he was a prosperous farmer near New Alexandria, at which time he left the farm, moving to Brilliant, then Lagrange, and took chArge of the ferry boat, selling out to the Waddle brothers some years ago, he retired from active service. . . The remains were followed to the cemetery at New Alexandria, where he sleeps in peace.

OBITUARY

The community was shocked Friday evening by the announcement of the death of JOHN ORR, an old and one of the most prominent citizens of Steubenville. . . The cause of death was jaundice and he had been confined to his house but a few days. Mr. Orr was born at Ballyhalbert, near Belfast, Ireland, November 29th, 1827, and came to America in 1846, first locating in Pittsburg. He remained in that city only a short time coming to Steubenville where he entered the grocery store of his uncle, JOHN ORR, at the corner of Third and Washington streets. In 1851 he opened a retail grocery on the opposite corner, which business he continued up to 1860, when at the death of his uncle he returned to the old store. He remained in the retail grocery business up to 1867, when he engAged in oil refining, building a plant below the Jefferson iron works. In 1877 he also engated in oil refining in Pittsburg, but two years later he sold the two plants to the Standard Oil "Co., resuming the retail grocery trAde at the "Old Orr Corner". In 1882 he erected the large block at the corner of Market and Fifth and taking his son Robert into partnership, engaged in the wholesale grocery trAde, in which he was very prosperous, his house at his death having a solid standing, the result of business sagacity and honest dealing. In 1855 he was married to MARY JANE ORR, the issue being five children: ROBERT, JOHN, WILL, MARY and ANNIE, who with his wife survive him. He was a public spirited citizen. . . (was) interred in the Union Cemetery.

OBITUARY

Another old and respected citizen, HENRY KELLY, SR., died at his home on North Fifth street, Sunday morning, March 1st, after an illness of several months duration. Mr. Kelly was born Aug. 15th, 1812, and was consequently in his 79th year, and fifty-four years of that long span he was resident of Steubenville, few men in the city having a more extended acquaintance with our people. He was a native of Bainbridge, County Down, Ireland, but left with his bride on their wedding day in 1834 to begin life together in the New World. The lived about a year in Rochester, N. Y. and for a short time in Pittsburg, before settling in Steubenville, where the family has lived ever since on the property where they first located, though the house is not the same, Mr. Kelly having replaced the old frame with a brick residence a good many years ago. He was a weaver by trade, and in those days it was a profitable occupation.Mr. Kelly adding to his gains, however by employing several assistants and running an establishment of his own, the product being flannels. This continues about twenty years, when dull times in the textile industries of Steubenville ensued, and he gave up the business and embarked in the trade of peddling by wagon, which he pursued until the outbreak of the war. In 1862 he went into the army as a wagon master, but instead carried a gun most of the time, serving to the end of the war. Subsequently he was watchman at the Panhandle bridge and then served one term as Street Commissioner and up to his death was a Township Trustee. For a long time he was connected with the U. P. Church, but of recent years has been a member of the First Presbyterian. His wife died Dec. 3, 1888 and of eleven children only four survive: ABNER of Matoon, Ill.,MRS. WILLIAM CARNAHAN, Empire., MRS. W. A. HANLIN and HENRY J. at home. He was an Odd Fellow and a member of the Grand Army.

CHARLES BROWN, a well known citizen, died at his home in the Sixth Ward, Monday morning from the stroke of paralysis last week. . . He was aged 79 years. Mr. Brown was born at Pittsburg where he spent his youthful days, subsequently removing in turn to Washington, Pa. and to Bethany, W. Va. and from thence to Steubenville about forty-one years and has lived there ever since. He was married forty-two years ago, and his wife survives him along with three children: MRS. R. B. LANDERS and MRS. WM. FISHER of Steubenville and EDWARD of Canton.

The many warm friends of MISS MARY JANE BUSTARD will be deeply grieved to learn of her death which occurred Sunday evening. . . Ever since she succumbed to the strain attendant upon her nephew's sickness and death she has gradually been growing weaker. . . and three weeks later she has followed him to the grave. Mary Jane was the oldest child of ANDREW BUSTARD and was born in Jacksonville in 1826 near where the Brady residence now stands, which property at that time belonged to Mr. Bustard. Later, however, he removed farther North to what has long been known as the Bustard farm, where the family remained until 1861, when upon the death of her father, Mary Jane removed with her mother to the city, staying here until called back to the homestead by the death of MRS. JOHN BUSTARD in 1875. Since then she hAs been the directing head and leading spirit in the household of her brother, to whose motherless children she filled the place of the absent one as it is seldom filled. . . For many years she has been a member of St. Paul's P. E. Church, and the funeral services were heod there Tuesday. By her death John Bustard is the only one left of their immediate family, the mother and the other sister, MRS. MULLINS of Pittsburg, having died in recent years. . .

OBITUARY

ELIAS LEE, son of GEORGE and JANE LEE, was born Dec. 10, 1813, near Baltimore, Md., and died March 5th, 1891. He was the eldest of ten children of whom but two survive him, GEO. W. and ANN, who both reside in Smithfield, when he was about one year old, his parents resided in the city of Baltimore, and it being feared by the citizens that the city might be captured by General Ross, his mother, with her effects fled with him about seven miles into the country to his grandfather Lee's as a place of safety, his father having enlisted in the army to aid in the defense of the city. And while the mother and her young babe were being thuscared for by his grandparents, Francis S. Key, a prisoner on board one of the British vessels composed the famous song of the Star Spangled Banner.

He was married twice; the name of the first wife was Elizabeth GORSUCH; the second, who still survivcs him, ELEANOR O'DONNELL. By the first wife there were three children, two of whom are still living, OLIVER G., living in New Cumberland, W. Va. and WILLIAM H. in Jacksonville, Florida. Elias Lee was a man not easily to be forgotten, a man of honesty, virtue and integrity, a Christian man, a member of the M. E. Church for 55 years, and loved and respected by all who knew him. . .

DR. W. D. McGREGOR died at the Merchant's Hotel in this city this morning, the cause of death being general debility. He had not been in robust health for some years, and two weeks ago in treating himself took an overdose of opium, from the effects of which he did not recover. Some years ago he was engaged in the drug business, but sold out and removed from the city, living in Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, returning to the city some months ago. He resumed the practice of medicine devoting his attention to special diseases. His age was fifty-five years. J. R. HECKMAN, the clerk of the hotel, sent a telegram to his brother, REV. MR. McGREGOR of Platka, Florida several days ago and he will arrive here this afternoon; he also telegraphed to a brother in Mt. Pleasant, Iowa. The doctor made the request during his lifetime that he be buried at Mt. Pleasant and arrangements will be made to this end after the arrival of his brother.

OBITUARY

The people of Steubenville were startled this morning by the announcement of the death of CAPT. W. A. WALDEN at Philadelphia, Monday night, March 9th. The sad intelligence was received by D. J. SINCLAIR through a telegram from MRS. WALDEN. The cause of death was typhoid fever, superinduced by overwork, in a case undertaken by him for the Ohio State University. . . involved labor that was too exacting for a man of his physical condition. . . Capt. Walden was born in Jackson County, Ohio in 1835. He read law there and was admitted to the bar. In August, 1861, he enlisted in Co. K., 36th O.V.I., General Crook's regiment. He was promoted to the captaincy of this company. In 1862 he resigned. He had been associated in business in Jackson County with R. C. HOFFMAN who removed to Steubenville, and after Capt. Walden left the army, he was induced to locate here. . . In a year Capt. Walden organized a company in the 15th (Col. McCook's regiment). After his return to this city, he was in partnership with ISAAC WRIGHT. . . During his legal career here he had at different times been in partnership with A. H. BATTIN, J. J. GILL, JAMES ELLIOTT and JUDGE MANSFIELD.. . . Capt. Walden removed from Steubenville to Columbus in 1856, where he engaged in real estate speculation as well as in the practice of law. . . He married in Jackson County, the maiden name of his wife, who survives him, being MARY TRAGE. They had but one child, a daughter, who died in childhood, in 1877. In religious belief he was a Swedenborgian. . . While here he attended St. Paul's Church with his wife who was a member of that communion.

SHOT IN THE BACK

Two Knox Township farmers quarrel over a bill, which results in a battle with revolvers---one of them shot in the back and the other in jail. ISAAC N. SWICKARD of Knox Township was brought to the city Wednesday and placed in jail, charged with the shooting of RINALDO RUNYON Tuesday at New Somerset. The ball from Swickard's revolver lodged in Runyon's back, near the spine and just above the hips. The shooting was the outgrowth of hot words about a small bill due Swickard from Runyan. . . Runyan, who it seems was armed, pulled a revolver and discharged a shot at Swickard, but without effect. The fire was returned by Swickard, which also missed the mark. Runyan again discharged, this shot also missing. Up to this time the two men were facing each other, but just as Runyan fired his second his horse whirled and Swickard's second shot took effect in Runyan's back. . . He was hauled in a sled to his home a short distance from the scene of the shooting, where DR. GREGG was called. Swickard was not arrested until Wednesday. . . The wound is an ugly one, but not necessarily fatal. . . The quarrel about (the) bill ammounting to a little over $11. died not justify. . .

OBITUARY

HENRY DOLBY, a well known citizen of Steubenville, died at his home on Fisher's Hill Wednesday after a short illness. He was born in Stark County in 1824, coming to Steubenville early in life, where he lived ever since, with the exception of a short time spent in California to which State he went during the gold excitementof 1849. While there he partially lost his sight from which he never recovered, but the affliction grew worse as age approached until before his death he was almost blind, but could get about the city without much difficulty. He was a blacksmith and engineer, and was employed in the latter capacity in the McDEVITT jeans factory. He was married to SARAH MORRIS in 1855, she dying in 1862, leaving two children, WILLIAM and DAVID of Chicago, both OF whom were set at the deathbed of their father. He was again married in 1864 to MISS CLEMENTINE McMILLEN, by whom he had one child, HARRY A. of South Norwalk, Conn., who is also here. Mr. Dolby lived on Fisher's Hill for twenty years and was a familiar figure in Steubenville, where he was respected and admired for consistent adherence to principle. . . He was honest and upright and no one ever spoke evil of him. . .

OBITUARY

JOHN W. CUPPY, a much respected citizen of Steubenville, died at his home at the corner of Ross and Fifth streets, Tuesday evening aged sixty-three years the 2nd of last December. He was born on Short Creek near Mt. Pleasant and was the son of ABRAHAM CUPPY, whose father and uncle were pioneers of the Short Creek Valley, both being Indian Scouts, coming to Ohio from Pennsylvania. Their service as Indian fighters is recognized in istory, their exploits and adventures making interesting and thrilling chapters. The subject of this sketch was always in delicate health and did not take active participation in the farm work, but looked after it, and taught school, which occupation he followed most of his life, having been one of the best teachers ever in the valley. He was noted for his erudition ans well as possessing the faculty of conveying his own learning to his pupils. After the death of his father and mother four years ago, he removed to Steubenville, and opened a notion and book store at the corner of Fifth and Ross streets, which business he conducted up to his death. He was always a religious man. . . He was a member of the Methodist Protestant Church of this city. . . On December 26, 1870 he was mArried to HARRIET ATKINSON, who survives him. The remains will be taken to Mt. Pleasant for interment Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

TWO BULLETS

A shooting affray occurred two and a half miles east of Cadiz Fricay afternoon which resulted in the death of WM. WEST, son of the late TEEN WEST, an old resident of that neighborhood. From what can be learned West and a man named NATHAN RUBY who has been employed at the West homestead for several years, had some words in the barn, and when West started for the house he ordered Ruby not to come in, but the latter paid no attention to the order and followed West into the dining room, both men keeping up the war of words. One report is that West took down a shot gun and fired first, while another account says Ruby pulled a revolver and shot twice both shots taking effect in Wests's head and killing him instantly. The murder occurred in the presence of West's family. . .

His uncle, NATHANIEL DIKE, one of the pioneer merchants of Steubenville, came here previous to 1820, and John S. came in 1829, and clerked in his uncle's store on Third Street, . . . John S. was also in partnership in the dry good's trade with JOHN WILSON, son of JUDGE WILSON, at that time editor of

of The Herald. . . He was elected to the Legislature. In 1855 he was in the wool and produce business, and also associated with others in the manufacture of cotton and woolen goods. His uncle, NATHANIEL DIKE, moved to Pittsburg, and died there in 1867, after a long and useful life. He built the house on Upper Market Street now occupied by THOMAS BARCLAY. This house is the best example of the old Colonial style of architecture. . . Here National Dike in courtly style, his wife being a member of the old and prominent WOOD family of Pittsburg. Her sister MARGUERITE WOOD, often visited here, and John S. and Marguerite were married. After the death of Nathaniel's wife in 1856, John S. and wife occupied the old homestead in which they lived up to five years ago, when Mrs. Dike died. Mrs. Dike was a granddaughter of JAMES ROSS who with Wells and Dickinson were original proprietors of Steubenville. He also represented Pennsylvania in the United States Senate. Mr. Dike was also a relative of MRS. ANNA RIDDLE SCOTT of Philadelphia, a granddaughter of JUDGE DICKINSON. . . (a very long obituary here condensed)

OBITUARY

JOHN C. BUTTE, one of the best known of Steubenville's old citizens, died at his home on South Fourth Street, Friday afternoon of pneumonia, aged sixty-eight years. The deceased was born in Hesse Cassel, Germany.February 7th, 1823. He came to America at the age of eighteen and settled in Pittsburg where he worked at mould making in a glass works. Here he was married in June, 1842 to ANNA ELIZABETH MILLER. They came to Steubenville in 1858 and he worked at mould making in the Beatty glass works, but an injury. . . incapacitated him for the hardwork involved in his trade, and he gave up mould making. In 1860 he built the brewery at the head of Adams Street, which he successfully conducted up to 1882, when he sold out. . . After the brewery was in operation he also opened a retail beer saloon on South Fourth Street, which he conducted for some years. It was called the Old Home and was the resort of the nailers and puddlers in the palmy days of the iron business in this city. . .He never hAd children of his own, but brought up his niece, MISS LIZZIE BROSI AND A NEPHEW, JOHN C. BUTTE, Jr. He educated Miss Brosi in Germany for a singer, and she gave wonderful promise of a most successful operatic singer, but her health broke down, and she was compelled to give up the stage and made her home with her beloved benefactor and his wife who survives him. . . He was one of the charter members of the United Evangelical Lutheran Church of this city. He was an Odd Fellow, and his remains were buried with the rites of this order Monday afternoon. . .

OBITUARY

Although the alarming news of her dangerous illness flashed through the city Sunday, MRS. W. D. McLAUGHLIN'S many friends hung to a faint hope. . . her death occurred Monday evening. . .

JENNIE LAMBERT was born near Greenville, Mercer County, Pa. and was about 47 years of age. The early years of her life were spent on the home farm but in finishing her education she attended the Steubenville Seminary, which at that time was already partly in charge of Dr. Reid and his wife, thus making it a particularly pleasant place for her among her kinfolk. She subsequently visited at the Seminary and there she was married to WILLIAM D. McLAUGHLIN on April 2, 1866, or just twenty-five years before the day she was attacked with her fatal illness, a sad silver wedding to the lonely survivor of the bond. Since then she has always been a resident of Steubenville, her home being in the McLaughlin homestead on North Hill. . . With her husband, five children survive : MARY, SALLIE, WILLIE, LAURA and RENA, all at home, besides whom she leaves three sisters and one brother; MRS. DR. A. M. REID of Steubenville; MISS MARY LAMBERT of Florida. . . and MRS. NANCY BEATTY and GEORGE LAMBERT near Greenville. Another unmarried sister recently died at Mrs. Reid's and was buried here. . .

MRS. ANGELINE RICHARDS died at her home on North Fourth Street Thursday morning after a protracted illness. She was born in Steubenville May 12th, 1813 and was a daughter of JABEZ and ACENATH SMITH. She was married to WM. RICHARDS jan. 6th, 1842. One child was born but died in infancy in 1848. She was a quiet home-loving woman who gave all her time to domestic cares. She was a member of the M. E. Church from the age of twelve years. . . Her husband who will not tarry long behind her in the valley, and a brother, DAVID S. SMITH of Trenton, Mo. survive her.

SARAH MORGAN, an old resident of Steubenville, died at the residence of her son-in-law, FRED HOFFMAN, Thursday evening aged eighty-five years. Last winter she fell on the ice, and broke one of her hips, from which injury she did not recover. She was born in England, coming to this city when about 15 years of age. Her daughter, MRS. HOFFMAN, died only a few days ago. JOHN BATES and the late WILLIAM BATES were sons from a former marriage. She was very feeble at the time it was expected that her death would not be long expected.

OBITUARY

JOHN McLAUGHLIN, uncle to W. D. McLAUGHLIN, died at the home of the latter, where he has resided the past twenty years, Saturday morning of heart failure after an illness of some duration, caused by the giving away of vital powers from age, he having reached the extreme figure of 90 years. Mr. McLaughlin was born in Ireland but came to America with his father's family when an infant, the family locating at Pittsburg. Scarcely had they settled in their new home, however, when the mother died, followed in a few years by the father, so the four children were taken by an uncle in Washington County, Pa. until they could care for themselves. The three boys learned the trade of harness and saddle-making in Pittsburg. WILLIAM, the oldest, father of W. D. McLaughlin, coming to Steubenville to set up for himself, JOSEPH striking out for the south, while John went to Cincinnati and engaged in the manufacture of saddle trees. . . he returned to Pittsburg where he manufactured washing machines and wringers, which he continued in after coming to Steubenville. . . John is the last of his family, his only sister, MRS. HUGH CUNNINGHAM, having died at Washington City about two years ago, aged 9; years. while William died here, aged 83 and Joseph died in Louisiana, aged 79 years, within a few days of each other in 1874. The family presents a remarkable instance of longevity, particularly as both parents died in the prime of life though the elder McLaughlin died from injury.

JAMES C. CHRISTY, a well known and respected citizen of Steubenville, died at the home of his daughter, MRS. MARY HENDERSON in Pittsburg this morning, the cause of his death being pneumonia. He took ill some weeks ago and did not recover as rapidly as he hoped, and felt that a visit to his daughters, Mrs. Henderson and MISS ELIZA, in Pittsburg, would improve his condition, but he did not improve, the grippe turning into pneumonia. He was born near Eldersville, Pa., July 10th, 1815. He came to Steubenville twelve years ago and was employed for two years in the upholstery department of the Panhandle car shops. He afterwards worked in Murphy's carriage factory, Pearce's furniture factory, and lately was employed in the upholstery department of Zink's furniture store. . . Ten years ago he was married to ELLEN HUFF, who survives him, but is herself very low with la grippe. Several days ago she was called to Wellsville by the illness of her sister, MRS. NANCY GIVEN,. . . She was then called home by the sickness of her youngest daughter. Her son Grant left for Pittsburg this afternoon, and will return with the body Wednesday. The funeral will be Thursday.

MRS. ISABELLA McKAY, known to everybody in the city as Aunty McKay, died at the residence of the Miller sisters on South Seventh Street Monday morning, in her eighty-fifth year. She was a native of Scotland, coming to this country shortly after she was married to COLLIN McKAY, who went to California in '49, where he died. For many years she made her home at the Seminary, but lately she lived with the Misses Miller. . . Five years ago she fell on the ice and broke one of her thighs, from which injury she never fully recovered. . . She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church for half a century. . . She had no children. MRS. JAMES MEIKLE of Columbus and MRS. WM. TAGGART of California are nieces and COLLINS ST. CLAIR of Indianapolis is a nephew. Her funeral will be on Wednesday morning.

JACOB WOLF, a former well known citizen of Steubenville, died at the home of his daughter, MRS. ANNIE M. REESE, in Lazearville, Friday morning aged seventy-eight years. He was born in Baltimore, and came to Steubenville about sixty years ago. He was in business here for many years, and in 1866 he was appointed baggage master at the Panhandle Station, which position he filled for fifteen years. His wife died several years ago, after which time he made his home with his children. He leaves seven children: M. R. WOLF. . . F. F. WOLF. . . Pittsburg; C. C. WOLF, Baltimore; MRS. JOHN SHIVELY, Dillon, Montana; MRS. W. L. PICKEN, Cincinnati; MRS. CORBETT, Pittsburg; and MRS. REESE at whoose home he died. His remains were brought to Steubenville for interment Saturday morning.

MRS. ELLA E., wife of WILLIAM PAXTON, died at her home in Alikanna Sunday morning after a short illness, aged about 40 years. She leaves a husband and four children to mourn the loss of a faithful wife and kind mother. . . She was a consistent member of the First Presbyterian Church. Her burial will be Tuesday morning.

MISS MARTHA MOORE, sister of JOHN MOORE of Steubenville, died at the residence of her brother GEORGE at Unionport where she made her home Monday morning, aged 52 years, her ailment being stomach trouble. OBITUARY

WILLIAM RICHARDS, the oldest native born citizen of Steubenville, died at his home on North Fourth Street Sunday morning, aged eighty-two years. He was born February 10, 1809, in a log cabin on the lot adjoining the one on which he died. He was the son of STEPHEN and MARY RICHARDS who were among the first settlers of this city. They had eight children of whom the deceased was the sixth and the last one to die. His father was a stone-mason in early manhood but turned his attention to burchering, and followed this business until feeble health in old age compelled him to retire from participation in active business pursuits. WILLIAM learned the butcher's trade with his father, which was his vocation up to the beginning of the civil war when he retired. Mr. Richards was married January 6th, 1842, to ANGELINE SMITH, the daughter of JABEZ and ASENITH (DUNN) SMITH, who were among the very earliest settlers. She died two weeks ago, at which time it was expected that her husband would not survive many hours, and his living two weeks after she had gone was a surprise to his physician. They had but one child, who died at the age of three weeks. Up to 1864 the deceased was a Democrat, but in that year he voted for ABRAHAM LINCOLN and since then he acted with the Republican Party. . . He was a member of Hamline Church. . . His remains were laid beside those of his wife so lately deceased. . .

M. W. LANG of Wellington, a delegate to the Encampment, called on the Gazette to ascertain the truth of a statement he recently read, that the Rebel flag which floayed over Andersonville was now in possession of some one in Steubenville. We could give him no information. . . Mr. Land further informed us that his father, who was a cabinet maker from New Hampshire, lived in Steubenville in 1822. . . but that he soon after settled in Wellington where he remained until his death which occurred recently.

A HORRIBLE ACCIDENT

Sunday morning an electric car knocked down and ran over a little boy named TOMMY YOCUM, who was so seriously injured that he died in the evening. It seems that the little fellow, who was eight years of age, was standing with his sister . . . on Franklin Avenue near a pile of bricks at the side of the tracks. . . The boy started to cross just as the car reached the pile of bricks . . . The boy was crushed by the brake bar which hangs below the platform. . . His father SILAS YOCUM. . . was notified immediately by the sister. . . The little fellow recognized his father as soon as he arrived and was conscious up to the hour of his death. . . The street car company has made itself liable by neglecting to place fenders on the cars which would have thrown the boy off the track. . . would have prevented the car from going over him. . .

TUESDAY

In the notice of the death of JOHN LONG, the man who perfected the mowing machine, it was stated that he patterned the champion mower and reaper. Mr. Long was the inventor of the Champion, which is very different from simply making the patterns. We were led to make this error by a statement in a Massilon pAper.

RANDOM NOTES

JOHN LONG, uncle of W. A. LONG of this city, who died at his home in Massilon on the 24th, was one of the most important factors in the progress of this country, and yet he was so reserved in manner. . . that he was not known outside his circle of immediate friends. It is to him that we owe the progress in agriculture by the invention of the mowing machine, the very foundation of American prosperity. It is true that Cyrus McCORMACK of Virginia invented the mower, but until it was perfected by John Long it was not the practical machine of today. Mrs. Long was a genius. . . he made it possible for the United States to feed the world. . . THE MORROW REUNION

The reunion of the MORROW family at Jeddo was a pleasant affair. This reunion was held in honor of Col. JOHN MORROW who resides in the flourishing city of Seattle, Wash. and who came here to pay a visit to the scenes of his youth, which are very dear to him, and to see once more his brothers and sisters, there being of the family eleven in all living; very notably, death has not made a break in that large circle. Col. Morrow at his age is as spry of foot as a boy in his teens; although over 70 he enjoys good health except a very bad sprain received in the service of his country just after the battle of Perryville, which has kept him from a life of activity. The friends collected together on Friday morning and repaired to Mr. Morrow's orchard, which would have been very pleasant had the sun shone on us, but owing to the rain we gathered up our baskets and congregated in the school house, where, it being noontime, all the delicacies of the season were spread, and from which all did ample justice, for the truth of which I refer you to REV. J. M. BRAY, who honored us with his presence. After the conclusion of this part of the program, Rev. Bray made a few remarks reciting many interesting events in connection with the parents of their assembled family. He was a firm friend of the family from boyhood's days, and he felt as though he were almost a boy again while conversing with the older ones. Next, an essay prespared by CAPT. J. M. MORROW was read, and a fine gold chain and charm presented to Col. Morrow as a tribute to the love and respect in which he is held by his friends. This event brought tears to the eyes of many present, feeling as they did that they would never all meet together again. There were fifty-three immediate relatives present, who formed a group in a picture to be handed down from generation to generation, after the older ones age gone. The eleven brothers and sisters formed another group which will ever be a momento to a most pleasant occasion.

The New York Clothing Gazette. . . . has a portrait of T. G. ATKINSON whom everybody in this region knows, from which we take the following:

MR. ATKINSON never started in business life with the intention of becoming a salesman, . . . as he grew he found his proper sphere, the sphere that nature had liberally equipped him to occupy. It was in 1879, at Steubenville, O., that THOMAS ATKINSON engaged in the retail hat business. ISAAC N. HEIDELBERG. . . being impressed with the intelligence and business capacity of that gentleman, invited him to discard his local interests in exchange for the grip of Bierman, Heidelberg & Co. Mr. Atkinson seized the opportunity and before a twelve month has passed, he ranked high in the estimation of his house and his customers. It is twelve years since that occurred and today the subject of this sketch stands in the front rank. . .

THOMAS G. ATKINSON was born in Steubenville, Ohio on September 27, 1848. His education was that usually accorded the county youth of the period. . . Notwith standing. . . he is today a thoroughly well educated man. . . In private life Mr. Atkinson is cheered by a pleasant wife and daughter, he devotes all his spare time to his family circle. . .

He has been married 58 years.

BAZALEEL WELLS---A SUGGESTION THAT HIS NAME AND MEMORY BE COMMENORATED.

The following about BAZALEEL WELLS, the founder of Steubenville and Canton, we take from the Canton Democrat. In it is a suggestion for Steubenville. Today the name of this illustrious man is commemorated only by a miserable little alley called Wells Street.

BAZALEEL WELLS, was born in Maryland and was of English descent. His father, belonging to the more wealthy class, gave him a liberal education. He studied law and was admitted to the bar, but finding much in the practice that was repugnant to his feelings, he abandoned the profession, removed to West Virginia and engaged in the purchase and sale of government lands. He became much interested in the development of the country, and in 1797, in connection with JAMES ROSS of Pittsburg, laid out Steubenville and became a citizen of the territory of Ohio. In 1802 he was chosen a delegate to the convention called to frame a constitution for the new State of Ohio. He was a popular and influential member of that body and contributed much toward drafting the organic law of our State. On the establishment of a land office in Steubenville Mr. Wells entered large tracts of land that afterwards became a part of Stark County.

Prompted by a spirit of enterprise, he established a woolen factory in Steubenville, being the frist west of the mountains, and in partnership with WILLIAM DICKENSON, and Englishman, imported the first merino sheep into this country. From this importation came all the fine merino sheep exhibited at the Stark County Fairs. In 1814 he was awarded a silver medal by the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia, as a "reward of skill and ingenuity" for a piece of broadcloth exhibited at the fair.

He also started an establishment for the manufacture of copperas, which for a time was quite prosperous. As an evidence of his popularity at home, it may be mentioned that the first steamboat built at Steubenville was nAmed "Bezaleel Wlls."

As emigration from the East increased, and the prospects of a new county became encouraging, Mr. Wells turned his attention to the location of a county seat. . . He selected a site lying between the East and West branches of Nimishilla. Incredible as it may appear to our people at the present day, at the time the Nimishilla was looked upon as a navigable stream. Vessels were afterwards loaded at North Industry with pork, flour and whiskey for the New Orleans market. . . Canton was located in the Fall of 1805. . . Mr. Wells encountered (difficulties) in his efforts to get Canton started. In April 1806, there was a public sale of land at auction. . . The sale was not a success. Lots were not in demand. . . Two sites for the county seat had already been located. . . The friends of these two places were active in decrying Canton.

The mainspring of his (Wells') influence was that he was a man among men. Of commanding presence, yet with an address that made his hearers feel at ease---an unexceptionable character for honesty and fair dealing. . . It is not generally known that in addition to the several squares given for public use he donated over 170 single lots, located in different parts of the town, the proceeds of which were appropriated for improvements.

And now I cAme to the special object of this communication. There is due from the city of Canton to the memory of Bezaleel Wells, a proper recognition of the service he rendered. . . The proposition is to change the name of Market Street to Wells Avenue. . .

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1891

A LONG LIFE

JOHN CROSSLEY COPELAND, one of our oldest and most respected citizens, a man of unblemished character, celebrated his eighty-fourth birthday at his home on Logan Street today. His is just one year and one day younger than his lifelong friend, JAMES PARKS, SR., who celebrated his eighty-fifth birthday yesterday, the two being the oldest residents of the city. Mr. Copeland was born in Franklin County, Pa., December 2d, 1807, and when still a boy came to Steubenville with his parents. . . Mr. Copeland and sister HENRIETTA COPELAND are the only surviving members of the family. He has been twice married, his first wife, ELIZABETH being a daughter of WILLIAM LOWRY who will be remembered by our older citizens as a surveyor and one of the early editors of The Steubenville Herald. Mr. Lowery was a man of wide influence and under his inst uction many of the boys of that day followed the profession of the civil engineer. J. M. RICKEY, Esq. is one of his old pupils. . . He (Lowry) was the second county surveyor. . . as evidence of hereditary genius we may mention that Mr. Lowry's great grand-son, GEORGE URQUHART, is today one of the most capable civil engineers on the Panhandle. The result of Mr. Copeland's first marriage was seven children, five of whom are living: JAMES L. and JOHN M. of Columbus, DANIEL P. of Mansfield, MRS. J. W. EVANS and MRS. CAPT. M. J. URQUHART of Steubenville. During the early fifties the cholera plague visited Steubenville. . . Mrs. Copeland contracted the disease and her death followed. Mr. Copeland's second marriage was to the widow of CHAS. B. McCONIGAL of Carlisle, Pa., who still survives to cheer him in his declining years. Lizzie whose unselfish devotion to her father is a benediction, is the fruit of this union. . . In early life Mr. Copeland was a cabinet maker. He afterwards worked at carpentry and was a very skilled artisan. . .

PERSONAL

The many friends of WM. B. COLLIER will regret to learn of the death of his daughter LYDIA, MRS. J. H. BARBER, which occurred Nov. 19th at Davenport, Iowa.

From The Huron (S. D.) Huronite we take this pleasant mention of our old friend PROF. ROWE, now Supt. of the Sioux Falls Public Schools. . . Prof. Rowe holds a place in the affections of the school children of Huron that can never be erased. . .

PERSONAL GOSSIP

Up till the Centennial year he was a passenger engineer on the Panhandle. . . In 1876 he was stricken blind. As he had a wife and three children, the railroad. . . purchased a home and presented it to him. He was a native of North Ireland and in his younger days was a resident of Steubenville. His remains were brought here this afternoon and the funeral will be from the residence of his mother on High Street Tuesday.

After a lingering illness of several weeks, JOHN ELLIOTT HENDERSON was called to his reward. . . Tuesday night, November 17, when he peacefully passed away. . . The services (were) conducted by Rev. McFarland of Piney Fork Church, and he was laid to rest in the family lot at Smithfield Cemetery. . . . He was 57 years of age and was married to MISS ELLEN KITHCART in 1875. To this union three children were born, viz: ROBERT, JOHN and WILLIE. . .

A dispatch from Neligh, Nebraska, signed by M. B. HUFFMAN. . . announced the death of JACOB HUFFMAN which occurred (Friday) the cause being apoplexy. This will be sad news to Mr. Huffman's many old friends in Steubenville and Jefferson County where he was so well known. Mr. Huffman was born in Washington County, Pennsylvania, and at the time of his death was about seventy-three years of age. . . After his marriage to Elizabeth Gladden, sister of MRS. ALEX. WELDY, he lived on the DAVID GLADDEN farm near Richmond. He afterwards came to Steubenville where he engaged in the dry goods business, adding furniture and undertaking. . . After with his two sons MADISON B. and BAXTER, he went to Neligh where he again engaged in farming. . . His sons were located near him in Nebraska and his daughter OLLIE is married and living at Niagara Falls and MARY, also married, resides in Nebraska.

BENJAMIN COMLY, a prominent citizen of Jefferson County, died at his home in Mt. Pleasant on Wednesday, after a lingering illness, aged sixty-four years. He was born on Big Short Creek, Smithfield Township, May 9, 1827, and was the fourth son of DAVID and SARAH COMLY who settled on the JACOB HOLMES farm, which was obtained from the Government by Holmes for services as a spy during the Revolutionary War. On the farm was built the Holmes Church, the first Methodist Episcopal Church on this side of the Ohio River. The Comly family came to Ohio in 1812, first settling at Smithfield then at Leesburg in the Tuscarawas Valley. The Comly family came to America with the William Penn colony. At one time JACOB COMLY, an ancestor of Benjamin, advanced money to Penn, and took for security a mortgage on lands where Philadelphia now stands. The subject of this sketch was married in 1858 to MARY E. HOPE, two children, MARY EVA and ANNA B. being the fruit of the union. . . He was a cousin of the late General JAMES COMLY, orator and editor, a native of Perry County. His remains were interred at Mt. Pleasant Friday.

The death of WILL C. LYON, which occurred at his home near Unionport, O., Nov. 23, 1891, has cast a gloom over that place where he was so well and favorably known. Funeral services were held in the Presbyterian Church. . . The mother and two sisters have the heartfelt sympathy of the community in the loss of their only son and brother.

KIDNAPPED HIS CHILD

Saturday evening J. R. MOSSGROVE, a glass worker, formerly of this city, but now of Martin's Ferry, called at the home of his father-in-law, GEORGE COOPER, on Water Street for the purpose he said of seeing his six year old daughter. He was admitted to the house and made a dash for the child, knocking down Mrs. Cooper, the grandmother, in his efforts to reach the little girl. He grabbed her and ran out the door and the wife was after him. She screamed, and by the time he had reached the corner of Water and Adams Streets, she overtook him and made an effort to recover her child, when he knocked her down and kicked her. By this time her father came up, and Mossgrove ran off, but was afterwards arrested. Mossgrove was married to KATIE COOPER at Burgettstown in 1879. Three children were the result of this union, two of whom are dead. For some time the couple have not been living together, and recently Mrs. Mossgrove bought suit in divorce against her husband on the grounds of brutal treatment, willful absence and failure to provide. . .

CAPT. JOHN F. DEVINNEY is one of the oldest citizens of Steubenville and his pleasant face and genial manner are familiar to all the people in this region. . . he is an upright Christian gentleman who has the fullest respect and confidence of our people. He is a native of Westmoreland County, Pa., and the year of his birth was 1810, making him, at this writing eighty-one years of age. When the Captain was but five years old, his father removed his family to Steubenville, which city has been the Captain's home for seventy-six years. Steubenville was the first considerable manufacturing point in Eastern Ohio, and Captain Devinney's father put up the machinery for a large woolen factory, a paper mill and a flour mill. In 1829 Capt. Devinney was an engineer on a steamboat and in 1835 he commanded a boat which ren between Pittsburg, St. Loouis and New Orleans. In the war of the Rebellion he ran a transport engaged in the Vicksburg campaign, and was a most capable and brave officer. "In the early days of steamboating," said the Captain to Henry Howe, the historian, "drinking and gambling were almost universal. I found in my first experiences I was being drown into the vortex; the fondness for drink and the passion of gambling were getting hold of me. I stopped short off and was saved. A large part of the young men who went on the river," continued the Captain, "died drunkards. Of those who went with me on the first boat, The Ruhannah, I am the sole survivor. On my own boat I never allowed gambling. I have outlived two generations of rivermen who have perished minly from intemperances." Capt. Devinney ascribes his long life to his temperate habits. His father was ninety-six years of age at his death. He was skilled mechanic, and a man of influence in his day and generation.

Capt. Devinney among other incidents related the following to Mr. Howe, which the historian tells in his own langauge.: An amusing incident occurred when the Captain was in command of the North Carolina running between Pittsburg and New Orleans. He started out from a port with another boat which had wooden chimneys. She had lost her chimneys by striking against trees and being in a hurry, the captain had the wooden ones made, which were only boxes fashioned from plank. "I laughed at the sight of them," said Devinney, "when the captain replied I would find it no laughing matter, he would beat me to New Orleans. We moved along in company, when after a few hours we discovered his chimneys on fire, there was great excitement on the boat. He called up his crew, and we saw him tumble the burning chimneys overboard. We were greatly amused at the sight, laughing heartily. I thought it was all up with them, but they had another sort of wooden chimneys made, and they beat us into port.". . .

OBITUARY

The remains of MRS. JOHN ANDREWS, who died at Columbus Saturday, and who was one of the best known women in the early days of Steubenville, will be brought here for interment Thursday morning. Mrs. Andrews was born in Columbus April 5th, 1805, and was a daughter of ABNER LORD, one of the first settlers of Ohio, at Marietta in 1788. There were six daughters, all remarkable women, gentle and noble, and they were mothers of distinguised men. MRS. FRAZIER, grandmother of E. F. ANDREWS, one of the most noted artists the country has produced, whose skilled hands painted the famous portrait of THOMAS JEFFERSON and MARTHA WASHINGTON in the White House; she was the mother of the late JAMES A. FRAZIER, a very prominent citizen of Cincinnati; and by a second marriage was the mother of the late ELI T. TAPPAN, President of Kenyon College, and Commissioner of State Common Schools. The second daughter was MRS. BACKUS, mother of ABNER BACKUS, at this time the wealthiest citizen of Cleveland. The third daughter, MRS. McDOWELL, was the mother of HON. IRWIN McDOWELL and of COL. JOHN McDOWELL. The fourth daughter was MRS. CASS, sister-in-law of LEWIS CASS, and mother of GEORGE W. CASS, the First President of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne, and Chicago R. R. Co., and First President of the Adams Express Co. The fifth daughter, MRS. JOHN ELY of New York. The sixth, MRS. ANDREWS, the subject of this sketch. She was the wife of DR. JOHN ANDREWS, for many years a prominent business man of this city. . . He died in 1866 at Columbus where he lived from 1855. Of the children, Martin Andrews, Alex H.Andrews and Margaret Osborn are dead, and ABNER L. ANDREWS, MRS. WM. K. ROGERS, and MRS. ELIZA BASSETT are living. The remains will be brought here this evening and the services will be at St. Paul's Church Thursday morning.
